Your Health & Wellbeing:

County health services need your help

As demand rises, the NHS in Derbyshire is asking us all to think more carefully than ever about what NHS service we choose to ask for when we need help.

Staff in GP practices, ambulance crews, 111 and 999 call handlers, emergency department staff and many others are reporting a significant increase in pressure.

Derby and Derbyshire Clinical Commissioning Group advises that patients can help the NHS by checking symptoms on 111 online, getting advice from pharmacies, and calling NHS111 for either advice or an appointment at an Urgent Treatment Centre if necessary, rather than going to A&E.
